Tom Loomis joined Graham Company in July of 2021. As a Producer, Loomis focuses on developing strong business relationships with large organizations with elevated risk exposures, specifically those in the Construction, Real Estate, and Health & Human Services industries. In his role, Loomis is responsible for building sound risk management programs so that his clients will achieve the best possible outcomes in the insurance marketplace. Loomis is involved with several organizations in the Health and Human Services industry, namely LeadingAge Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, as well as LeadingAge National.

Before becoming a Producer with Graham, Tom Loomis was a Business Development Executive in the pharmaceutical industry, building consultative relationships with top 100 pharmaceutical companies regarding their regulated fulfillment strategies. Born and raised in New Jersey, Loomis received his Bachelor of Arts from Rutgers University where he was a member of the Rutgers Rugby Football Club.
