Annie Dean joined the Graham Company as a Claims Consultant, bringing with her an experienced background in insurance litigation. Prior to joining the Graham Company, Dean was an Associate Attorney with a regional insurance defense law firm in Philadelphia, where she represented insureds in matters related to premises liability, products liability, motor vehicle liability, contract litigation, and mass tort/asbestos litigation. While there, she was also the primary associate on a National Coordinating Counsel team, working with local counsel teams across the country to ensure the client was adequately and strategically represented in all asbestos litigation nationally.

Dean graduated with a degree in Media Arts and Design from James Madison University, where she was member and captain of the Women's Varsity Lacrosse team. Dean obtained her law degree from Temple University's Beasley School of Law, where she completed the Integrated Trial Advocacy Program. There, she was recognized as a Rubin Public Interest Honor Society Fellow for her commitment to public service through her work for the Philadelphia District Attorney's office and the Honorable Juan R. Sánchez, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Dean is admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania and New Jersey and is a licensed insurance agent in Pennsylvania.
