The Graham Company's Vice President Appointed to the Construction Financial Management Association—Philadelphia Chapter's Board of Directors

PHILADELPHIA, PA – March 13, 2013 – The Graham Company, one of the Mid-Atlantic region's largest insurance and employee benefits brokers, today announces that Kevin Adams, CPA, surety account manager and vice president, was appointed to the Construction Financial Management Association \(CFMA\)—Philadelphia Chapter's Board of Directors, effective April 2013.

The CFMA is a nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the educational needs of construction financial professionals. The association provides education and networking opportunities to its members in the form of workshops, seminars and programs.

"We are pleased to welcome Kevin Adams to the Board of Directors," said Wendy Byerley, president of the Philadelphia Chapter of CFMA. "We look forward to benefiting from his background in the construction industry and business acumen, which is directly relevant to the Association's vision of providing the best networking and educational opportunities for our members."

Over the next two years, Adams will be responsible for helping fellow board members with improving the overall member experience from initial registration to retirement by providing quality educational programming, networking opportunities, social activities and community service.

"The Graham Company was the first insurance brokerage in the country to implement a training division and therefore is an advocate for any organization that supports continuing education and is delighted to lend one of its leaders to the Board of Directors of the CFMA," said Ken Ewell, president of The Graham Company.
