The Graham Company Hires Experienced Safety Consultant to Support High-Risk Clientele

PHILADELPHIA, PA – March 14, 2013 – The Graham Company, one of the Mid-Atlantic region's largest insurance and employee benefits brokers, today announces Alan Mar, CSP, CDS, ARM will join the Safety Division as a safety consultant.

Mar brings more than seven years of professional experience to The Graham Company. As a safety consultant, he will be responsible for providing safety consultation services to clients across several high-risk industries including manufacturing, healthcare, distribution, real estate, hospitality, professional services and transportation.

"Mar's background in safety management, workers' compensation, fleet management and property fire protection among other areas will help strengthen our clients' existing prevention efforts to keep their businesses growing and employees safe, said Ken Ewell, President of The Graham Company.

Prior to joining The Graham Company, Mar worked for Chubb Group as a risk control engineer and Liberty Mutual as a loss prevention consultant. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Health & Safety from Penn State University. In addition, he served as a staff sergeant in the U.S. Army Reserves from 2002 to 2011, where he received The Army Commendation Medal and The Army Achievement Medal.

Mar holds the following professional designations: Certified Safety Professional (CSP), Certified Director of Safety (CDS), Associate in Risk Management (ARM), and certification in HAZWOPER (Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response).
